SPRING COLLECTION 2005

Perennial favorites from the United States Mint...

Dear Collector,

I am pleased to present the United States Mint's Spring Collection for 2005. The coins, medals and special products offered in this catalog are unique expressions of the artistry and craftsmanship for which the United States Mint is renowned.

Following a historic year that included the introduction of two new reverse designs for the Jefferson 5-cent coin (nickel), five new additions to the United States Mint's popular 50 State Quarters® Program and the Congressional Gold Medal awarded to Dr. Dorothy I. Height, we have succeeded in 2005 in our efforts to bring more of our products to market earlier in the year.

The Westward Journey Nickel Series™ continues to capture the excitement of a young Nation exploring uncharted territories and commemorate the success of an epic adventure that spanned three years and covered more than 8,000 miles. This year, all nickels will carry a newly designed obverse portrait of President Jefferson in addition to two new reverses. The American Bison nickel, released in the spring, recognizes the vital role of American Indians and wildlife of the Great Plains in the expedition. The Ocean in View nickel will be released in the fall to represent the expedition's exhilaration in reaching the western waters and the successful culmination of the Lewis and Clark expedition.

The 2005 commemorative coins pay tribute to great Americans and great institutions. In April we honor our Nation's fourth Chief Justice of the United States, John Marshall, on the 250th anniversary of his birth. In July we honor the distinguished and heroic service of the United States Marine Corps, founded 230 years ago during our fight for liberty and independence.

I invite you to browse through the catalog and place your order by mail, by calling 1-800-USA-MINT, or online at www.usmint.gov.

Sincerely,

Henrietta Holsman Fore
Director
United States Mint

CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN MARSHALL SILVER DOLLARS

Few men have shaped the legal landscape as thoroughly and expertly as our Nation's fourth Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, John Marshall. His 34-year tenure remains the longest in the high Court's history and his steady leadership helped guide the United States through the formative years of its democracy – a system of government dubbed by George Washington as "The Great Experiment."

The profile of Chief Justice John Marshall featured on the obverse was designed and engraved by United States Mint sculptor/engraver John Mercanti. The view of the Old Supreme Court Chamber showcased on the coin's reverse was executed by United States Mint sculptor/engraver Donna Weaver.

In addition to the single coin options in both proof and uncirculated condition, the Chief Justice John Marshall Silver Dollar will also be available as part of two limited-edition collectable sets. First, a Coin & Chronicles Set will feature a Bureau of Engraving and Printing intaglio print and an informative booklet. The coin will also appear in a special set with the Marine Corps 230th Anniversary Silver Dollar later this year. Maximum mintage is 400,000 for all coin options.
